Research on Investments in China's Health Services in 2010

1.1 Overview

1.1.1 Definition & Classification

In accordance with the Detailed Rules for the Implementation of the Provisional Regulations on Business Tax of the People's Republic of China, Zero2IPO Research Center defines the health services as services in respect to diagnosis and treatment of patients, epidemic prevention, obstetrics and family planning as well as businesses providing pharmaceuticals, medical apparatus, meals and accommodation in hospitals in connection with such services. Accordingly, the institutions offering health services are referred to as the healthcare institutions, which include hospitals, health centers, community health service centers (stations), sanitariums, outpatient departments, village clinics, maternity and child care centers, specialized disease prevention & treatment institutes, centers for disease control and prevention, etc. In terms of ownership, healthcare institutions could be divided into public healthcare institutions and non-public healthcare institutions.
