3 Definitions

- (1) In these Regulations:

‘Act’ means the Business Tax Act 2016;

“arm’s length principle”, in relation to a controlled transaction, means that the result of the transaction is consistent with the result that would have been realised in a transaction between independent persons dealing with each other under the same or similar conditions;

‘comparability factors’ means the factors specified in Regulation 3;

‘comparable uncontrolled price method’ means the transfer pricing method under which the price charged in a controlled transaction is compared with the price charged in a comparable uncontrolled transaction;

‘comparable uncontrolled transaction’, in relation to the application of a transfer pricing method to a controlled transaction, means an uncontrolled transaction that, after taking account of the comparability factors, satisfies the following:

- (a) the differences, if any, between the two transactions or the between the persons undertaking the transactions do not materially affect the financial indicator applicable under the method; or
- (b) if the differences referred to in paragraph (b) do materially affect the financial indicator applicable under the method, reasonable accurate adjustments can be made to eliminate the effects of such differences;

‘controlled transaction’ means a transaction between associates;

‘cost plus method’ means the transfer pricing method under which the mark up on the costs directly and indirectly incurred in the supply of property or services in a controlled transaction is compared with the mark up on those costs directly or indirectly incurred in the supply of property or services in a comparable uncontrolled transaction;

'financial indicator' means:

- (a) in relation to the comparable uncontrolled price method, the price;
- (b) in relation to the cost plus method, the mark up on costs;
- (c) in relation to the resale price method, the resale margin;
- (d) in relation to the transaction net margin method, the net profit margin;
or
- (e) in relation to the transactional profit split method, the division of profit and loss;

'person' includes a "PE person" and "headquarters person" as defined in Regulation 4;

'resale price method' means the transfer pricing method under which the resale margin that a purchaser of property in a controlled transaction earns from reselling the property in an uncontrolled transaction is compared with the resale margin that is earned in a comparable uncontrolled purchase and resale transaction;

'transaction' means:

- (a) a purchase and sale of goods;
- (b) a purchase, sale, lease, or use of tangible property;
- (c) a purchase, sale, licence, or use of intangible property;
- (d) a provision of services;
- (e) a provision of finance or other financial arrangement;
- (f) a dealing between a permanent establishment of a person and another part of the person; or
- (g) any other dealing;

'transactional net margin method' means the transfer pricing method under which the net profit margin relative to the appropriate base (such as costs, sales, or assets) that a person achieves in a controlled transaction is compared with the net profit margin relative to the same basis achieved in a comparable uncontrolled transaction;

'transactional profit split method' is the transfer pricing method under which the division of profit and loss that a person achieves through participation in a controlled transaction is compared with the division of profit and loss that would be achieved when participating in a comparable uncontrolled transaction;

'transfer pricing method' means:

- (a) the comparable uncontrolled price method;
- (b) the resale price method;
- (c) the cost plus method;
- (d) the transaction net margin method; or
- (e) the transactional profit split method; and

'uncontrolled transaction' means a transaction that is not a controlled transaction.

- (2) Without limiting the generality of the definition of 'associate' in the Act, in addition, two persons are associates when:
 - (a) one person participates, directly or indirectly, in the management, control, or capital of the other person; or
 - (b) the same person participates, directly or indirectly, in the management, control, or capital of both persons.
- (3) For the purposes of sub-regulation (2), a person participates, directly or indirectly, in the management, control, or capital of another person when:
 - (a) the first-mentioned person either alone or together with an associate or associates under another application of sub-regulation (2) controls either directly or through one or more interposed persons:

 - (b) the first-mentioned person has the practical ability to control the business decisions of the second-mentioned person.
- (4) A term used in these Regulations has the same meaning as in the Act unless the context requires otherwise.
