EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Rules, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Rules made by the Ministry of Commerce under the Quarries Act (Northern Ireland), 1927, deal with the following subjects in connection with the management of, or employment in, a quarry; General Duties; Safe Working and Access; Machinery, Plant and Apparatus; Health; Explosives. The Rules are for general application, but provision is made for exemptions to be granted by an inspector in certain cases.

The Rules impose new duties, particularly on owners, occupiers and agents in relation to inspections, reports and the specification of procedures.

The Rules set forth in the First Schedule to the Act are revoked.

The Rules do not in any way exempt the owner, occupier, agent or any person employed in any quarry from complying with the requirements of the Explosives Act, 1875, and the Orders, etc., made thereunder in respect of the storage and conveyance of explosives and detonators.
