woman more than once married, who is entitled to graduated retirement benefit as a widow in respect of a second or subsequent husband, to retain her entitlement to such graduated retirement benefit in respect of a former husband as she has earned by deferring her own retirement from regular employment on attaining pensionable age. Provision is also made for treating graduated retirement benefit as an increase of widowed mother's allowance instead of as an increase of her retirement pension where this is equally or more beneficial to the widow.

The remaining provisions of the Regulations make certain amendments to regulations under the National Insurance Act (Northern Ireland), 1946, required in consequence of the scheme of graduated retirement benefit introduced by the National Insurance Act (Northern Ireland), 1959.

(c) For a farm intended to be accredited in Grade I or Grade II £1

If the farm is not provisionally approved for accreditation in accordance with Article 5 the fee shall be returned, but if otherwise it shall be retained.

Provisional Approval

5.—(1) Provisional approval shall be granted to an applicant

(a) who is the owner of a Special Breeding Farm, or

(b) who is the owner of a Parent Breeding Farm, provided that in each case the breeding policy of the farm has been approved by the Ministry.

Blood Testing

6.—(1) The birds on the farm of an applicant to whom provisional approval is granted shall be blood tested as laid down in the Third Schedule.

(2) The testing of birds in the breeding flocks shall be carried out free of charge annually by an authorised officer but flocks which are kept intensively for commercial egg production in accordance with the Sixth Schedule may not require annual testing provided that there is no evidence of infection on the farm.

(3) Adequate assistance shall be provided by the applicant when the blood samples are being taken.

(4) No blood testing other than that carried out by the Ministry shall be recognised for the purposes of this Scheme.

(5) Should reactors occur on an accredited farm, Grade I or Grade II, every care will be taken by the Ministry to inform licensed hatcheries immediately but no liability will rest with the Ministry should hatching eggs be distributed from an accredited farm after reactors have been found and before the farm, as a result of further testing, has been declared free from disease by the Ministry.

Accreditation

7.—(1) A provisionally approved farm shall be accredited as defined in the Fourth Schedule provided that:—

(a) the entire adult stock, with the exception of birds kept intensively in accordance with the Sixth Schedule, has been blood tested during 1961 as laid down in the Third Schedule and is free from reactors;

(d) the accommodation, management, stock, staff and equipment continue to comply with the conditions of the Scheme.

(2) Accreditation shall, unless withdrawn, remain in force until 21st October, 1962. Where an accredited farm is in the process of changing to a Contract Supply Farm, accreditation shall be withdrawn as soon as the new stock from the Parent Breeding Farm reaches point of lay.

Stamping

8.—(1) All eggs sold for hatching shall be stamped with a stamp supplied by the Ministry. Where chicks are to be sold the accompanying delivery note shall be stamped with the stamp supplied by the Ministry.

(2) The advertising, sale or distribution of hatching eggs or chicks shall not begin until the stamp is received. All advertisements shall include a reference to the number on the stamp.
