EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to explain their general purport.)

These Regulations

(1) require records to be kept and information to be supplied to the Ministry concerning dealings in flax, flax straw and re-scutched tow;

(2) prescribe standards for the efficient scutching of flax straw and rough tow;

(3) prescribe maximum charges for scutching flax and tow;

(4) provide for the settlement of disputes concerning the grading of dam-retted flax;

(5) make provisions concerning payments falling to be made under the Act; and

(6) prescribe standard prices for flax and re-scutched tow produced from the 1960 crop.

1959. No. 200 [C]

FOYLE FISHERIES COMMISSION

Foyle Area (Rivers Faughan and Roe Angling) Regulations, 1959

The Foyle Fisheries Commission hereinafter referred to as "the Commission" in exercise of its powers under Section 13 of the Foyle Fisheries Act, 1952, and Section 13 of the Foyle Fisheries Act (Northern Ireland), 1952, hereby makes the following regulations:—

1. These regulations may be cited as the Foyle Area (Rivers Faughan and Roe Angling) Regulations, 1959.

2. These regulations shall apply to the rivers Faughan and Roe and their tributaries and shall come into effect on the first day of January, 1960.

3. For the purpose of these regulations:

(a) the term "night fishing" shall mean angling on any day later than one hour after sunset or earlier than one hour before sunrise.

(b) the gape of a hook shall be measured as the distance when the hook is normally aligned between the point of the hook and the shank of the hook.

4. Angling shall be by any of the methods named in the first column of the schedule hereto and shall be subject to the respective limitations and restrictions specified in the third column of the said schedule. No person shall angle by any other method or in contravention of the said limitations and restrictions.

5. Fishing by any method is prohibited within fifty yards downstream of the weir known as Kane's Rock on the river Roe in the townland of Deer Park, County Londonderry.