General may determine. Meetings for special purposes shall be held as occasion requires and on such dates and at such places as the Inspector General may determine.

PART III

GENERAL

Requests for information.

20. The Central Representative Body, the Officers' Representative Body and the Men's Representative Body may make application to the Inspector General for any information which they consider to be necessary to assist them in their deliberations, and in so far as the Inspector General considers it practicable and desirable in the interests of efficiency to do so the information sought shall be supplied.

Leave to attend meetings.

21. The members of all the Representative Bodies and the County Consultative Boards established in accordance with the provisions of these Rules shall be given leave, not to be reckoned as annual leave, to enable them to attend at duly authorised meetings of the Board or Body on which they have been elected to serve, and every such attendance shall, for the purpose of allowances and expenses, be deemed to be an occasion of police duty.

Time off duty for consultations.

22. The Commissioner or the County Inspector shall, subject to the exigencies of the public service, grant to members of Boards, for the purpose of enabling them to consult those whom they represent, such time off duty as may be requested of him, and as he may consider necessary, for the aforesaid purpose.

23. The Rules made by the Minister of Home Affairs on the 20th July, 1923, are hereby revoked.

Dated this 25th day of July, 1951.

Brian Maginess,
Minister of Home Affairs for Northern Ireland.
