ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This publication was produced within the framework of the TrainForTrade Port Management Programme of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), financed by the Government of Ireland and the participating ports of Ghana, Indonesia, Malaysia, Nigeria and the Philippines. The programme receives support from Dublin Port Company, Port of Cork Company and Belfast Harbour Commissioners.

The Port Management Programme – English Speaking Network – has benefitted since its inception in 2007 from the unstinting support of Ireland's ambassadors in the participating countries. Their excellencies: Seán Hoy formerly in Ghana and Nigeria; Kyle O'Sullivan and Olivia Lesley in Indonesia; Eamon Hickey and Hillary Reilly in Malaysia; and Geoffrey Keating and Pat Bourne in Singapore representing the Philippines, have always given freely of their time to take part in the presentation of certificates and meet with participants. Their support and that of the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade in Ireland is very much appreciated.

The summaries of the featured dissertations and participants' career profiles were prepared by John Moore, Janjarang Kijitkhun, Dominique Chantrel, Tomasz Kulaga, Amélie Cournoyer under the supervision of Mark Assaf, Chief of the Human Resources Development Section-TrainForTrade, UNCTAD, and the overall guidance of Geneviève Féraud, Head of the Knowledge Development Branch and Shamika Sirimanne, Director of the Division on Technology and Logistics, UNCTAD.
