Large Marine Ecosystems of the World and Linked Watersheds

LARGE MARINE ECOSYSTEMS are areas of the ocean characterized by distinct bathymetry, hydrography, productivity, and trophic interactions. They annually produce 95 percent of the world's fish catch. They are national and regional focal areas of a global effort to reduce the degradation of linked watersheds, marine resources, and coastal environments from pollution, habitat loss, and over-fishing.

18 GEF-LME Projects in Regional Seas. GEF-LME Projects in Regional Seas already approved (red dots) or in the preparation stage (yellow dots), involve 121 countries of Africa, Asia, the Pacific, Latin America & the Caribbean, and Eastern Europe.

3. Strengthen capacity for coastal and marine governance

Review of the Regional Governance mechanisms for the marine environment

- Analyse the legal, institutional and scientific foundations of these regional mechanisms, exploring their respective mandates and ways of intervention
- Analyze cooperation and coordination:
  - Among RSPs / RFBs / LMEs
  - Between RSPs, RFBs and LMEs
- Provide recommendations for making the regional system more coherent, effective and efficient
