

Faith for Earth Updates March 7, 2019

Dear Brothers and Sisters;

Welcome to Nairobi and to the Faith for Earth Dialogue at the UN Environment Assembly UNEA4.

I already have had the pleasure to welcome some of you today, and I am eager to welcome all of you on Monday.

I am so much delighted that we already have 131 registered faith leaders representing 51 organizations. This is the first time in the history of UN Environment and will be a historical milestone to keep its momentum, and possibly exceed in the future.

Our updated schedule is on the website and on the Events App of UN Environment on Apple or Google.

This morning we have organized the first coordination meeting with some of the Faith for Earth community who are already in Nairobi. I would like to invite you all to a broader coordination meeting on Tuesday 12 March at 11:30 am – 13:00 pm at the Faith for Earth Tent. I would like to start the tradition of making these meetings owned by the Faith for Earth community. So kindly send me your nominations of the first chair for the first meeting. You can also self-nominate.

The main purpose of such a meeting is to get to know one another, discuss future communication channels, relay your expectations of the Faith for Earth Initiative and illustrate your commitments to the Faith for Earth community. One of our major outputs for 2019 as UN Environment is to create a Faith for Earth Coalition, that would need a charter, structure and rules of engagement. Your thoughts on this would help us move forward.

Today, the Major Groups and Stakeholders meetings have started and many of you are attending. You have shown interest that the Faith Community should be recognized as a standalone category under the Major Groups and stakeholders. Therefore, your efforts in achieving that will make it happen. I am delighted to share with you a snapshot of our distinguished faith leaders who will be speaking at the Faith for Earth Dialogue.

Welcome again and let's make a difference.

Best wishes Iyad
