REDUCING EMISSIONS FROM DEFORESTATION AND FOREST DEGRADATION

LEARNING JOURNAL

EDITION 1 - FALL 2015

ABOUT US

UN-REDD

The UN-REDD Programme is the United Nations collaborative initiative on Reducing Emissions from Deforestation and forest Degradation (REDD) in developing countries. The Programme was launched in 2008 and builds on the convening role and technical expertise of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP).

The UN-REDD Programme supports nationally-led REDD+ processes and promotes the informed and meaningful involvement of all stakeholders, including Indigenous Peoples and other forest-dependent communities, in national and international REDD+ implementation.

REDD+ACADEMY

The REDD+ Academy is a coordinated REDD+ capacity development initiative led by the UN-REDD Programme and the UNEP Environmental Education and Training Unit, which seeks to match the scale of the global climate change mitigation challenge and enable systematic, focused capacity development to deliver REDD+ on the ground.

The REDD+ Academy is a comprehensive response to capacity building needs identified by the countries receiving support from the UN-REDD Programme. The main aim of the REDD+ Academy is to empower potential “REDD+ champions” with the requisite knowledge and skills to promote the implementation of national REDD+ activities.

UNITAR

The United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) is a principal training arm of the United Nations, working in every region of the world. We empower individuals, governments and organizations through knowledge and learning to effectively overcome contemporary global challenges.

Our training targets two key groups of beneficiaries: the delegates to the United Nations and others who develop intergovernmental agreements establishing global norms, policies, and programmes, and the key national change agents who turn the global agreements into action at the national level.

Dear Learner,

Welcome to the REDD+ Academy, providing you with a State of the Art overview of REDD+ planning and implementation, developed by some of the world's leading REDD+ experts.

This journal is a part of the REDD+ Academy. It has been designed to accompany you in your learning journey, covering all the main REDD+ topics, from the basics to the finer points of setting reference levels, monitoring, allocation of incentives and stakeholder engagement.

The modules presented in this journal will equip you with the necessary knowledge to better understand the various components of REDD+. I encourage you to apply this knowledge and do your part to make REDD+ a national and a global success!

Achim Steiner

United Nations Under-Secretary-General and
United Nations Environment Programme, Executive Director
