

An aerial photograph of a coastal city and port. In the foreground, a large container yard is filled with stacks of colorful shipping containers. A road and a railway line run through the yard. In the middle ground, a large port area with several cranes and a ship is visible. The background shows a city built on a hillside, with mountains in the distance under a clear blue sky. A semi-transparent yellow banner is overlaid across the middle of the image, containing the title and subtitle in white text.
