Operational Context

The 2021 Syria Humanitarian Needs Overview (HNO) puts the number of people in need of humanitarian assistance inside Syria at over 13.4 million, including 6.7 million internally displaced Syrians. Of that number, approximately 5.9 million are in acute need of humanitarian assistance. UNHCR supports refugees, IDPs and returnees through targeted assistance using a community-based and area-based approach.

UNHCR works with 27 partners which include two government ministries, six international non-governmental organizations (INGOs) and 19 national NGOs.

Key Achievements

Protection

In line with the community-based protection approach, UNHCR is supporting 91 community centres, 35 satellite centres and 119 mobile units, and has engaged 2,815 community outreach volunteers (ORVs) in all 14 governorates.

Community/satellite centres and mobile units in Syria.

The community centres provide comprehensive protection-related services such as support to child protection activities, catch up classes for children, and legal assistance benefitting IDPs, returnees, host communities and other crisis-affected individuals across Syrian governorates. At the UNHCR-supported community centres, outreach volunteers also engage with communities to identify and address specific protection concerns by implementing small-scale community-led or livelihood projects.

During the reporting period, two new community centres were opened in the Aleppo Governorate following needs assessment on where the greatest needs were observed. The centre in Al Khaldea sub-district was relocated from Al Salheen neighbourhood in the centre of Aleppo city, and it will serve about 22,000 households. The other centre in the Zebdiya neighbourhood of Aleppo city will provide protection services to around 21,000 IDP and returnee households.

So far in 2021, close to 300 community-led initiatives (CLIs) and youth-led initiatives were implemented in all governorates. These projects are identified by the communities and aim to address common protection concerns and improve the well-being of the community or specific groups. Some recently concluded initiatives included securing safe water by installing water tanks, distributing medical glasses to IDPs and returnees after free eye examination, and school painting and illuminating.

UNHCR and its partners provided home-based-rehabilitation support to more than 2,000 elderly persons. Home-based rehabilitation support consists of the provision of different services such as nursing care, physical rehabilitation services through exercise, and assistance with activities of daily living. In addition, over 12,000 people with specific needs received adult diapers and over 5,100 people with specific needs received medical in-kind assistance. Medical assistance includes provision of glucometers, sphygmomanometers, wheelchairs, or medical mattresses. General in-kind assistance such as water tanks, fans and heaters were provided to some 600 people with specific needs.

UNHCR and its partners also provide legal assistance to affected communities by enabling access to legal services by providing counselling, facilitating the registration of civil events, and supporting access to documentation. These services are especially essential to enable reintegration of returning IDPs and refugees within their communities and access to basic services such as health and education. Since the beginning of the year, UNHCR has provided legal interventions before administrative bodies to over 8,600 IDPs, returnees and host community members. Close to 3,400 people benefitted from legal interventions before courts.

Legal Developments

Also in September, Circular No. 30 was issued which requires people who want to designate a power of attorney on behalf of absent or missing individuals to obtain prior security approval. The circular also requests the Judicial Inspection Department and public attorneys to report any violation of this provision to relevant authorities. The circular indicated that during the crisis in Syria, many powers of attorney were issued for absent or missing individuals who appeared to be either dead or may have committed crimes. There were also cases in which the power of attorney was used to exploit the absent or missing person's assets and dispose of them against their interests. UNHCR is analysing the implications of the circular and how it relates to earlier measures which may affect people of concern.

Following the issuance of Circular No. 30, the First Sharia'a Judge in Damascus issued a clarification that such approvals were only needed for powers of attorney granted to regulate financial matters for the absent or missing person. This clarification may simplify the overall process given the narrower applicability of the Circular. This clarification is expected to simplify the issuance of powers of attorney especially for civil documentation, women's and children's personal matters which will no longer require the security approval.

Core Relief Items

UNHCR through its partners supports IDPs, returnees and vulnerable host community families with essential core-relief items. A standard core-relief items kit contains plastic sheets, mattresses, solar lamps, high thermal blankets, sleeping mats, jerry cans, and kitchen sets and is intended for a family of five members. So far in 2021, UNHCR has assisted 91,655 households in all 14 governorates with core-relief items.

Of the total number of households assisted, more than 22,341 households were living in newly accessible communities in Al-Hasakeh, Ar-Raqqa, Deir-Ez-Zor, Idleb, Damascus, Rural Damascus, Hama, Lattakia, and Homs Governorates.

To respond to the critical situation that developed in Dara'a Governorate in August and September, UNHCR prepositioned some 5,000 core-relief item kits to support affected displaced people. As part of the support, UNHCR distributed core-relief items to some 600 IDP households.

Shelter and Infrastructure

UNHCR's main shelter programme comprises of damaged house repairs, distribution of basic shelter materials, removal of debris, and distribution of solid waste bins. UNHCR and partners also provide emergency shelter support for displaced people. This emergency support includes the rehabilitation of collective shelters, the distribution of materials such as timber, plastic and MDF sheets for minor shelter repairs, and upgrading damaged buildings.

So far in 2021, UNHCR has replaced over 4,200 tents in eight formal and informal camps in the Al Hasakeh, Ar-Raqqa and Deir Ez-zor Governorates of north-east Syria. This regular replacement of the old and damaged tents aims to improve the shelter situation of the families to withstand the harsh weather situations, especially the windstorms which usually increase in summer.

In addition, around 3,750 individuals benefitted from the removal of 7,500 cubic metres of debris in Rural Damascus. Also, 220 individuals benefitted from the repair of damaged houses in Lattakia and Rural Damascus, as well as distribution and installation of 247 shelter material kits in Rural Damascus.

UNHCR and its partners also completed the rehabilitation of a civil registry office in the Old City of Aleppo. The centre will help over 600,000 individuals to obtain their legal documents.

Assistance to Refugees

Registration

Registration and providing documentation are key to ensure the protection of refugees and asylum-seekers in Syria and enable access to basic rights such as freedom of movement and access to assistance. End September, there are 23,185 registered refugees (14,422) and asylum-seekers (8,763) in Syria.

In September, 1,781 individuals renewed their UNHCR identification cards bringing the total number of refugees and asylum-seekers who have renewed their identification cards this year to 23,130 individuals. These documents provide protection against refoulement, ensure access to basic rights and assistance, and facilitate freedom of movement. The majority of registered refugees originate from Iraq and live primarily in urban areas in Damascus, Aleppo, Tartous, Homs and Qamishli Governorates. Out of the total number of registered refugees and asylum-seekers in Syria, some 19,500 individuals were biometrically enrolled, representing 88 per cent of the total registered population above three-years-old who are suitable for iris (biometric) enrolment.

Refugee status determination (RSD)

UNHCR uses its refugee status determination procedures to help asylum-seekers realize their rights under international law. Since February 2021, UNHCR is piloting the alternative approach to in-person interviews to ensure that access to refugee-status determination procedures for persons of concern continues with COVID-19 preventative measures in place. Cases are processed remotely with caseworkers and individuals communicating via secured video-conferencing tools in UNHCR premises. Interview rooms are fitted with all the necessary ICT equipment, PPE and disinfectants.

Between January and September, 51 cases comprising 112 individuals were successfully interviewed. The assessment of 35 cases comprising 56 individuals was submitted to reviewers by case workers. To date, 71 cases comprising 137 individuals were reviewed of which 30 cases comprising 60 individuals were recognized as refugees.

Resettlement
