Introduction

The United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), the United Nations Children’s Fund (UNICEF) and the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN Women) organized a design workshop for discussion on Phase II of the Global Programme to Accelerate Action to End Child Marriage (GP), in Jaipur, India, 18–23 February 2019.

In preparation for the workshop, each of the UNFPA, UNICEF and UN Women country and regional teams responsible for the implementation of the GP were asked to jointly prepare a short document on the main themes of the workshop: gender transformation, multi-sectoral approaches, scaling up, measuring outcomes and the theory of change (TOC) and results framework.

These themes were chosen by the Global Programme Support Unit (GPSU) and confirmed as priorities for discussion at the workshop after a brief consultation process led by Child Frontiers with key actors in UNFPA, UNICEF and UN Women, and with external stakeholders such as non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and researchers. In addition to preparing country/regional reports, each team was also asked to jointly prepare a visual presentation in order to share their collective work and learning from the GP with others in a ‘world café’ format during the workshop.

Throughout the report, please find this 'home' symbol in the top right corner of each page. By clicking on this symbol, you will automatically be taken back to the list of contents.

The objectives of this workshop were to:

- exchange views with other country and regional teams, agencies and experts about the successes and challenges of Phase I of the GP;
- review the global TOC, the results framework and generate inputs for needed revisions for the next phase;
- build the capacity of participants on aspects of measurements and gender-transformative approaches; and
- begin the process of building a shared vision between UNFPA, UNICEF and UN Women for Phase II of the GP, including in humanitarian settings.

The following report is a summary of the presentations, panel discussions and regional, mixed or country level group work by more than 100 participants during the course of this workshop. The workshop led to a series of commitments to action made by the country and regional offices of UNFPA, UNICEF and UN Women, as well as by the GPSU, compiled in the section 'Next Steps'.
