This working paper represents research in progress and is published for the purpose of sharing knowledge and soliciting comments. The contents and conclusions of this document are considered appropriate for the time of its preparation. They may be modified in the light of further knowledge gained at subsequent stages. Comments regarding the paper should be addressed to the UNIDO Gender Coordinator who can be reached at gender-coordinator@unido.org.

This document has been prepared without formal United Nations editing. The views and opinions expressed are those of the authors and should not be considered as reflecting the official policy or position of UNIDO. UNIDO is not responsible for the results of any actions taken on the basis of this research nor for any errors or omissions.

The opinions, designations and material presentations do not imply the expression of any opinion whatsoever on the part of UNIDO concerning the legal status of any country, territory, city or area or of its authorities, or concerning the delimitation of frontiers or boundaries, or its economic system or degree of development.

Designations such as “developed”, “industrialized” and “developing” are intended for statistical convenience and do not necessarily express a judgment about the stage reached by a particular country or area in the development process.
