ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The authors would like to express their gratitude to UN Women for encouraging and supporting the writing of this study as well as for providing the research team with several rounds of substantial comments and fruitful discussions. We would also like to thank the Crisis Management Initiative (CMI) for conducting a joint workshop to discuss the research results of the Broadening Participation Project relevant for women's participation. These research results constitute the substance of this study, and the comments and feedback from all workshop participants were tremendously useful for the report (see list of participants in Annex 3). In appreciation of their substantial comments, we would like to give special thanks to the following colleagues: Mireille Affa'a-Mindzie (UN Women), Rachel Gasser (swisspeace), Marie O'Reilly (Inclusive Security), Andrea Ó Súilleabháin (IPI), Antonia Potter Prentice (CMI), Dewi Suralaga (Cordaid), Barbro Svedberg (WILPF), Nahla Valji (UN Women), and Angelic Young (Inclusive Security). We would also like to thank all case studies authors and external reviewers as well as the colleagues also involved in data analysis, i.e. Christoph Spurk, Lais Meneguello Bresson, Christian Keller and Debora Reymond. We also like to thank our colleagues of the Inclusive Peace and Transition Initiative, in particular Estefania Charvet and Farrah Hawana, for supporting the final revision of this report and Natasha Lamoreux and Emily Kenney from UN WOMEN for their effective support with the final editing as well as the Government of Switzerland for their flexible additional financial support. We finally would like to thank Madeleine Rees (WILPF) for all her support
