Acknowledgements

The Ministry of Health, Royal Government of Bhutan, expresses its sincere and profound gratitude to all individuals and organizations that contributed immensely towards the conduct of Bhutan's First Global School-Based Student Health Survey (GSHS) in 2016. Many individuals and organizations were involved in the planning of, pretesting for and conduct of the survey, as well as in the analysis of the data and writing of the report for the Bhutan GSHS.

We would like to thank Ms Leanne Riley (WHO headquarters, Geneva); Dr Laura Kann, Yoshimi Yamakawa, Tim McManus, Connie Lim and Denise Bradford from the CDC, Atlanta; Dr Thaksaphon Thamarangsi, Dr Manju Rani, Dr Gampo Dorji, Mr Naveen Agarwal and Dr Rizwan SA from the WHO-SEARO; and Dr Ornella Lincetto, Dr Rui Paulo De Jesus and Mr Tshering Dhendup from WHO Country for Bhutan for their valuable technical support and constant guidance.

We would also like to express our gratitude to the Ministry of Education, particularly to Ms Karma Dechen from the School Health and Nutrition Division, for all her hard work which contributed to the smooth and successful conduct of the fieldwork in the schools.

We would like to make a special mention of the Steering Committee members, survey administrators, and writers (from the WHO-SEARO and Country Programmes) of the Bhutan GSHS report. Their enormous contributions at various stages of the survey are highly appreciated.

Lastly, we would like to sincerely thank the principals, teachers, school health coordinators, class captains and health captains of the 50 sampled schools for their support during the stage of data collection. Last but not the least, we are extremely thankful to all the students and parents for their participation in this survey, the first of its kind in Bhutan.
