Important note: This is a working draft intended for further testing by facilitators for the purposes of supporting the adaptation and application of the Innov8 approach in a range of country contexts. Some exercises in this Facilitator's Manual have evolved since the iterations carried out in previous piloting and therefore require further testing in a range of country contexts. The content of this document is not final and the text may be subject to revisions before publication. This publication, as it is a working draft, has not been professionally copyedited. The document may not be reproduced, transmitted, distributed, translated or adapted, in part or in whole, in any form or by any means without the permission of the World Health Organization. Communication in this regard should be directed to: http://who.int/about/licensing/copyright_form/en/.

Acknowledgements: The conceptualization and authoring of this facilitators manual was initiated and led by the Gender, Equity and Human Rights (GER) team, WHO/HQ, with support from the adult learning expert Pamela Lupton Bowers and in coordination with and co-authorship from the Social Determinants of Health (SDH) team, WHO/HQ. Monies for its elaboration came predominantly from the WHO-Norad grant on "Operationalizing a Human Rights, Gender and Equity-based Approach to Health Service Delivery". Both teams cost-shared from other sources for the graphic design, and the SDH team anchored the final production phases. The facilitator's manual drew considerably from lessons learnt during the piloting of Innov8 during 2014-2016 in a range of contexts. Please see the acknowledgements section in the "Innov8 approach for reviewing national health programmes to leave no one behind: Technical Handbook" (WHO, 2016) for a list of people who have been central in the development and piloting of Innov8. Persons involved in those pilots are acknowledged with gratitude.
