Acknowledgments

The production of this Atlas would not have been possible without the input of many eHealth experts and the support of the numerous colleagues at the World Health Organization headquarters, regional and country offices.

Our sincere gratitude goes to over 600 eHealth experts in 125 countries worldwide who helped shape the results by sharing their knowledge through completing the 2015 global survey on eHealth. We are also indebted to an extensive network of eHealth professionals and WHO staff who assisted with the design and implementation of the survey. The WHO eHealth focal points in six WHO regions played an important role in encouraging Member States to participate therefore ensuring a high response rate of 64% for the survey. eHealth focal points include Housseynou Ba, Hani Farouk, Clayton Hamilton, Mark Landry, David Novillo and Miguel Peixoto.

Special thanks go to Mohamed Nour (WHO Eastern Mediterranean Office) and Katharine Shelley (consultant) for their expert processing and analysis of the survey data. The GOe wishes to acknowledge its gratitude for the ongoing support and advice from Joan Dzenowagis, Diana Zandi and Ed Kelley (WHO Geneva).

Our appreciation to Jillian Reichenbach Ott, Genève Design, for her design and layout, and Kai Lashley, Further Consulting, for technical editing.

The global survey and this Atlas were prepared by the WHO Global Observatory for eHealth under the management of Misha Kay.
