This document was prepared by Carl Coleman, Seton Hall Law School, Ernesto Jaramillo, World Health Organization (WHO) Stop TB Department (STB), Andreas Reis, WHO Department of Ethics, Equity, Trade and Human Rights (ETH) and Michael Selgelid, Australian National University.

This work was accomplished under the overall coordination and guidance of Diana Weil and Mario Raviglione (STB), and Marie-Charlotte Bouësseau and Rüdiger Krech (ETH).

We would like to acknowledge the essential contributions of the WHO Task Force on Addressing Ethical Issues in TB Care and Control Programmes:

- Paula Akugizibwe, AIDS and Rights Alliance for South Africa (ARASA)
- Ronald Bayer, Columbia University, USA
- Solomon Benatar, University of Capetown, South Africa
- Jeff Blackmer, Canadian Medical Association
- Oscar Cabrera, Georgetown University, USA
- Richard Coker, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, UK
- Angus Dawson, University of Toronto, Canada
- Anne Fanning, University of Alberta, Canada
- Michel Gasana, National Tuberculosis Programme, Rwanda
- Case Gordon, World Care Council, France
- Larry Gostin, Georgetown University, USA
- Dirceu Greco, University of Minas Gerais, Brazil
- Przemyslaw Musialkowski, Council of Europe
- Paranjai Ramaiyengar Narayanan, Tuberculosis Research Center, India
- John Porter, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, UK
- Rajeswari Ramachandran, Tuberculosis Research Center, India
- Lee Reichmann, University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (UMDNJ), USA
- Michael Selgelid, Australian National University
- Jerome Singh, University of Kwa-Zulu Natal, South Africa
- Ross Upshur, Joint Centre for Bioethics, Canada
- Xie Xiu Wang, Tianjin Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, China

In particular, we acknowledge the vital contribution of the authors of the four discussion papers prepared for the Task Force: Paula Akugizibwe, Ron Bayer, Jeff Blackmer, Oscar Cabrera, Larry Gostin, Dirceu Greco, Rajeswari Ramachandran, Lee Reichmann, Michael Selgelid, and Jerome Singh.

While major efforts were undertaken to reach consensus, not all the recommendations of this document necessarily reflect the agreement of all members of the Task Force.

Further, our thanks go to the participants of the global consultation on ethical issues in tuberculosis (TB) care and control (Geneva, Switzerland 2009), the Strategic and Technical Advisory Group for Tuberculosis (STAG-TB), the Multidrug-Resistant (MDR)-TB and DOTS Expansion Working Groups of the Stop TB Partnership (Geneva, Switzerland 2009), and the commentators of the ethics session at the TB Union meeting (Cancun, Mexico 2009) for their advice, in particular Mary Edgington, Gloria Nwagboniwe, and Marlon Roldan.

We thank the participants of the 8th Global Summit of National Bioethics Advisory Bodies (Singapore 2010) for their valuable comments, in particular Maria do Céu Patrão Neves of the National Ethics Council for Life Sciences of Portugal, Qi Guoming of the Chinese Ethics Committee/Medical Association, and Eugenijus Gefenas of the Lithuanian Bioethics Committee.

Special thanks go to Erin Howe of the Open Society Institute, and to Julia Seyer of the World Medical Association for their important contributions.

Development and publication of this document were supported by the generous financial contributions of the United States Agency for International Development .

Last but not least, we would like to acknowledge the support of WHO staff in this project: Daniel Chemtob, Dennis Falzon, Sara Faroni, Giuliano Gargioni, Haileyesus Getahun, Malgorzata Grzemska, Nancy Kass, Kumanan Rasanathan, Wayne van Gemert, and Matteo Zignol.

We would also like to thank the numerous interns and volunteers at WHO who have over time made important contributions to the project: Michelle Alain, Alice Corinaldi, Lisa Derigo, Simon Derpmann, Theresa Ly, Johannes Kniess, Tarun Mehra, Katja Rohrer, Michael Rozier, Thomas Staab, and Ning Wang.
